ABOUT THE CLACKAMAS RIVER

The Clackamas River offers spectacular world-class whitewater rafting and kayaking, breathtaking scenery, and fun and exciting rapids, making it one of the best day trips from Portland for both locals and visitors.

Douglas fir trees tower above the clear blue water and deep pools of this designed Wild and Scenic River, which originates at Olallie Lake deep in the Cascade Mountains. Among the whitewater crowd, this river has long been loved for its numerous, tumbling class III-IV rapids and year-round accessibility.

The 12-15 miles of the full day trip offers continuous class III-IV whitewater, starting with Powerhouse rapid

(III) just downstream from the put-in. From there rafters will paddle through back-to-back class III rapids, including Hole in the Wall, Fish Creek, Armstrong, Carter Bridge, Sling Slot, Big Eddy, Toilet Bowl, and Bob's Hole. Midway through the trip, the group will stop for a riverside lunch and relaxation. From March-June, the spring and early summer snowmelts create high flows, thrilling rapids, and giant wave trains that are exciting for beginning and advanced rafters alike. As the water levels drop through the later summer months (July-August), the run becomes tighter and more technical.

TRIP DETAILS

CHECK-IN

Please do not arrive more than 30 minutes before the trip start time. If you think you are going to arrive late, please call our office at 800-972-0430. (Note: there is little to NO cell reception in the Clackamas River canyon.) Guests will meet their guides at the Moore Creek Boat Access Site, which has a parking area and restrooms. For early season or cool weather trips, our guides will issue out additional gear including wetsuits, neoprene booties, and splash jackets. Valuables are kept locked in personal vehicles during the trip, and therefore we strongly recommend leaving as many valuables (wallets, money, cellphones, watches, jewelry, etc.) as possible behind at home. Moore Creek is the take-out for the trip and guest vehicles will stay parked there during the rafting trip. Once ready, the group will load up into a River Drifters shuttle and drive to the put-in.

OUR GUIDES

Our guides are accomplished in outdoor skills and trained in first aid, CPR, and river rescue. They are environmental stewards of the outdoor areas where we work and play and are knowledgeable about the natural and cultural history of the area. They are fun, interesting people who have a passion for rivers and guiding. If you have questions about rafting or the unique features of the Clackamas River, ask and they will be happy to share what they know.

WEATHER

GEAR & CLOTHING

Clothing and gear worn during your rafting trip on the Clackamas River is largely based on the weather and air temperature. It's important to note, the temperature of the Clackamas River rarely rises above 55°F. Typically, in the early season (March-June) wetsuits, splash jackets, and neoprene booties are required (provided by River Drifters). On warmer trips (often July & Aug), non-cotton clothing, such as wool, polyester, or another synthetic material, is perfect rafting attire. Regardless of the weather and air temperature, it is required that you wear non-cotton clothing during the rafting trip.

Recommendations Based on Temperature:

75° F or Cooler: Wetsuit, neoprene booties, & splash jacket (provided by River Drifters)

75°F - 80°F: Splash jacket with non-cotton top and bottoms or possibly wetsuit and booties

80°F or warmer: non-cotton shorts or pants and shirt and/or swimming suit

GEAR CHECK

Loose, quick-drying, and non-cotton clothing is ideal for river trips.

Cotton should not be worn on the river during wet or cooler weather because it's slow to dry and will lower your body temperature.

There is a wide range of affordable shirts and pants made of synthetic materials.

River Drifters reserves the right to reschedule, alter, or cancel a trip due to unfavorable water levels, weather, fire conditions, and/or an inadequate number of participants.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Our guides work very hard throughout the season to ensure that guests have an enjoyable trip. As such, tips are very much appreciated by our guides. Tips normally range from 10%-15% of the trip cost.
